Bryan Withdraws From Leadership.

At Chicago on Wednesday in a speech delivered at the close of the Jackson Day banquet, William Jennings Bryan laid down the scepter of his leadership of the Democratic party and retired to private life. He declared during the campaign for a moment during the campaigns in which he went down in overwhelming defeat placed self-aggrandizement above the principles that he advocated, and he asked in a broken voice, in view of the fact that he was no longer the standard bearer of the party, that the name of the club whose members he was addressing be changed from "W. J. Bryan" to that of some Democratic saint who had passed away. "I hope to God," he said, "that when I die men may say of me that I was honest with myself and honest with the great trust that has been reposed in me. I will never have any post offices to give away. That is all gone now," and he hesitated a moment, choked by emotion, "but I still have my friends, more friends, I fondly believe, than I ever would have had had I been elected President of the United States."

Ninety eight Per Cent.

There is a fascination about his profile to a business man. But the conservative and cautious trader prefers to have the lesser per cent. of interest and the larger per cent. of safety in his investments. There is no business man who would not consider it a sound proposition to invest in an enterprise in which absolute loss was impossible and which offered ninety-eight chances in a hundred of a rich profit. The statistics of cases effected by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery show that ninety-eight per cent of cases of "weak lungs" can be absolutely cured. Almost if not all forms of physical weakness may be traced to physical starvation. Starvation saps the strength. The body is just as much starved when the stomach cannot extract nutrition from the food it receives as when there is no food. "Weak lungs," bronchial affections, obstinate coughs, call for nourishment. "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies that nourishment in its most condensed and assimilable form. It makes "weak lungs" strong, by strengthening the stomach and organs of digestion which digest and distribute the food, and by increasing the supply of pure blood.

Persons who suffer from indigestion cannot expect to live long, because they cannot eat the food required to nourish the body and the products of the undigested food they do eat poison the blood. It is important to cure indigestion as soon as possible, and the best method of doing this is to use the preparation known as Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It digests what you eat and restores all the digestive organs to perfect health. F. C. Dueron.

Consumption Threatened.

C. Unger, 212 Maple St., Champaign, Ill., writes: "I was troubled with a hacking cough for a year and I thought I had the consumption. I tried a great many remedies and was under the care of physicians for several months. I used one bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar. It cured me, and I have not been troubled since." F. C. Dueron.

The magisterial districts are given the following: Sharpsburg, 2,309; Bethel, 2,360; Wyoming, 1,965; White Sulphur, 3,027; Owingsville, 5,067. Total for the county 14,734, against 12,813 in 1890. The increase in the county is 1,921, or 15 per cent.

A Soldier Dies.

In San Francisco, Sunday, Jan. 6, Kendall Neal, of Paris, (son of James Neal), who was a soldier in the Philippines, and en route home, died after a brief illness. This is the second Paris boy to die who served in the Philippines—the former being "Doc" Manning.

WHEN WOMEN PROPOSED.

Clear Ways of Bringing Men to the Point of Matrimony.

Miss Kenrick, the beautiful English actress, celebrated in the halls of "The Berkshire Lady's Garland," sent Benjamin Child, the handsome young attorney, with whom she had fallen in love, an anonymous letter demanding satisfaction for injuries received. After vainly trying to guess who his challenger might be and how he had offended, Child betook himself, provided with a second, to the place of meeting. There he saw no fierce giant, only a masked woman, who flushing a rapier, said:

"It is I that did invite you. You shall see me in 15 minutes. You must choose from which you please!"

Taken unawares by such a "stand and deliver," Child asked to see his challenger's face before deciding; but the woman refused to unmask until the knot were tied. He decided to surrender, so he and the lady went to church and were married. The hero of the romance found that his adventure brought him "beauty, honor, riches." He took place among the gentry of the county, and was high sheriff of Berkshire in 1714.

An Irish girl proposed in this way. She thought that her boy was slow in coming to the point, so she said: "If I were you, Jack, and you were me, we'd be married long ago." Another shy man said to the lady of his choice: "I wish we were on such terms that I wouldn't mind calling me by my first name." "Oh," she answered, "your second is good enough for me."

Shakespeare's heroines are remarkably ready to take the initiative in this most serious business, says the Chicago Record. Helena demands the hand of Bertram as the price of her wonder-working prescription. Desdemona hints broadly that she is to be had for the asking. Miranda tells her patient logan that she is his wife if he will marry her. Dr. Thomas Dawson, who was celebrated in the last century as a physician for both soul and body, found one day an admiring patient alone, sitting with the family Bible before her. The physician read the words to which her finger pointed—the words of Nathan to David: "Thou art the man." He took the hint and married her.

It was hardly fair to reckon Elizabeth Simpson among proposing women, although answering Mr. Inchbald's suggestion that she should marry with "Who would marry me?" was tantamount to seeking the reply: "I will, if you will have me." There certainly could be no mistaking the words spoken by a girl who presided over a refreshment stall at a large railway station in England. She was a good-looking girl, but had red hair. A man waiting for a train said to her: "Could you oblige me with a match?" She replied: "Yes, if you do not object to a redheaded one." They are now married and happy.

Thinking that it would tend to her spiritual welfare, Margaret Charlton wished to marry Richard Baxter, and sent an ambassador to negotiate, while she listened at the study door. Hearing him declare that the proposition could not be entertained, Margaret burst into the room, threw herself at his feet, and said: "Dear Mr. Baxter, I protest with a sincere heart, I do not make a tender of myself to you upon any worldly account, but to have a more perfect converse with so holy and prudent a yoke-fellow to assist me on the way to Heaven, and to keep me steadfast in my perseverance which I devote to God's glory and my soul's good!"

Baxter assented. Robert Leighton, bishop of Dunblane, might have done the same had he been proposed to by one as young and fair as Margaret Charlton, but the would-be bride was a spinster of limited charms. She called upon the bishop and informed him that it had been revealed to her from Heaven that he was to become her husband. His right reverence, though somewhat startled, was equal to the occasion. He told the lady that such an intimation was not to be despised, and that he would give his best attention to it when it were vouchsafed to him.

FEDERAL COURT.

In our last issue we dropped a hint to our business people as to what might be accomplished in the way of having Mt. Sterling named as the court site for the new Federal District Court of Kentucky. To this our people have given no attention, while our neighbor city, Winchester, ever awake to public interests, are using their best efforts, and our surprise is some of our own people are joining them in the interest to secure the court. To such a commitment on the part of our people we enter our most vigorous protest. If there are reasons why the court should go to Winchester there are additional reasons why it should come to Mt. Sterling. Eastern Ky. people are our people; their interests are ours. The facilities with which we are reached, the saving to both the government and litigants are in our favor, and if the court is worth anything to us our people should strive for it. Again should Winchester become the location for the court, the approved appropriation of $50,000 for a government building would be utilized and the influx of capital by virtue of location of a court here would be turned to another place. If our people would be as active in their own interests as they are in that of their neighbors, to say the least, we would give expression to our faith in our own city as a point for great business interests. We are not against Winchester in any of her enterprises, but we are loyal to Mt. Sterling, Montgomery county and Eastern Kentucky—first and foremost.

There is a fight on between Casswell Prewitt and A. W. Hamilton, each asking the Democratic honors for candidate for State Senator. The friends of the principals are at blood heat now and it is in evidence that our Republican contemporary would have a bitter campaign, leaving the defeated party in an unresolvable feeling with the greed hope that its party would be profited thereby. Mr. Prewitt's and Col. Hamilton's Democracy stands approved by the Democrats of this Senatorial district, and while the friends of the contestants are making claims it is not to the disparagement of the opposition to the profit and delight of our common foe. We will make our fights within our own ranks. It is our own business and not that of any other political party. As to what our judicial districts shall be or who our Democratic Senators may favor for U. S. Senator, that, too, is our business, and we will settle all without the aid of other parties to our entire satisfaction and every Democratic vote will be cast in line with party privileges, and the Republican parties just as well leave unsprung their dead-falls. Both Prewitt and Hamilton are acceptable to the party and the people, the entire voting element of the Democratic party will choose who shall represent us in the fight for the common people as against Republicanism.

COUNTY ATTORNEY.

Mr. Clarence F. Thomas makes public notice of his candidacy for the County Attorneyship. He is a native of the county, the son of Mr. Jno. R. Thomas, of Spencer.

We regard him as an excellent young man. He graduated from Kentucky University in June, 1894, and later in the Law School of Washington and Lee University, Va. He has been a practitioner at the bar in our courts since then. He is a Democrat and will faithfully discharge his duties, and do justly with all people whose interests come before him.

FOR ASSESSOR.

In this issue appears the announcement of Jno. F. Richardson who desires to serve his countrymen as Assessor. Prior to his service of three years as Deputy Sheriff he has been a farmer and stock raiser, hence should be well qualified to discharge the duties of the office. He asks the favorable consideration of his claims, and will, no doubt, do faithful service.

FOR JAILER.

William Sleds in this issue announces his candidacy for re-election to the office of Jailer, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Having served in the capacity of Jailer for four years past, he offers his record for endorsement, and if nominated he pledges all of his powers to honorably secure his re-election and that of his party, and if elected to discharge the duties of the office to the credit of both himself and the county. Ever loyal to the principles of the Democratic party, his candidacy is in his party's hands.

FOR COUNTY JUDGE.

At the head of our column is the announcement of Judge A. A. Hazelrick for re-election to the office of County Judge of Montgomery County. Judge Hazelrick has made a good official, has properly guarded the county's interests, and against him no charge of unfaithfulness can be made. During his term many of the turnpikes have been purchased and in this deal he has been just both to the county and individual stockholder, paying all the stock was worth, but not cent more. Our turnpikes under his administration have been well kept, and to day are in as good condition as when I over to the county. Judge Hazelrick has ever been unadvised victory of his party and never has the weather been too bad, the nights too dark to do party service, yet he is modest and does not claim he is a better than them. He offers his record as an official and Democrat, pledging, if nominated, to land the party with a good majority, and should another be chosen the same efforts will be used, for he loves party above self. Good!

FOR SHERIFF.

Allen McCormick is a candidate for High Sheriff of Montgomery County, with Clifton R. Prewitt, Jr., as deputy.

Mr. McCormick asks the Democratic party to make him its nominee, promising if he is so honored that he will use every honorable effort to bring out a full Democratic vote, landing the party with a good round majority. Mr. McCormick is a loyal Democrat; not one of the extreme kind with the opinion that he is more loyal than others, but one who stands out against unjust Republican enactments, one who is for the interests of the entire people rather than just for the masses. Mr. McCormick, a success with his own business, is capable of caring for the county's interests, and will discharge the duties of Sheriff safely and satisfactorily.

Mt. Sterling Boy.

We are in receipt of a letter from R. N. Stuckton, President of the Mercantile Manufacturing Co., St. Louis, Mo., who said place me on your list as a subscriber. I was born in Mt. Sterling where I lived until I was 16 years of age. I want to know if there are any familiar names to you there now? Mr. Stuckton is now one of the leading business men of St. Louis, President of one of the largest manufacturing factories of that city, and we hope to find pleasure and profit in perusing our column.

At this sale will be disposed of city carriage horses, carriages, harness, etc. It will be a rare opportunity for our horse people to get what they want without the expense of holding, feeding and waiting. Telephone Rate.

A rate war is on at Nicholasville between the East Tennessee & Cumberland and the Nashville & Louisville Companies. Prior to the formation of the bona company the rate had been $1.50 per month for private residences and $2 per month for business houses, and the new organization reduced the rate to $1 and $1.50 per month. This reduction caused the East Tennessee Company to reduce their rate to 50 cents and $1 per month.

New Furniture.

Mr. John W. Jones, jeweler, has returned from Cincinnati where he purchased $1,800 upright cherry jewelry show cases. They are as fine as anything in Kentucky, and by their use Mr. Jones will be able to exhibit his stock of fine goods, equal in quality and proportion to that of any store in Central Kentucky. CECIL WILKES. Eligible to Land Registry.

Full Brother to Eglest, 2/06 1-2 and Five Others With Records and Trials Better Than 2:25.

High, red bay stallion, stands 16 hands, 3 inches without shoes, and is leggy, weighs 1600 lbs., without being cough or cough. As a high bred, big bodied, smooth, masculine looking animal of great natural speed, stamina and heart. In other words he is a grand individual, and will run from testing and middle across the kind of horse that always have, and now are, and will continue to sell at remunerative prices. These are the only kind of horses that it does pay the farmer to raise, since that will sell at good prices whether they have speed to turn out, it pays better to have a mile than a small plug horse.

For gift edged breeding CECIL WILKES is the peer of any stallion of his age or color in the world. There is about six years better in it. For ten generations his blood is uncolored. He was, I understand, bred by a well known horse breeder, a sire of early and extreme speed, and of price winners at the W. Va. Fair. He is, the records the best working one when age is considered of two Wilkes sires, who is considered by all to be the greatest horse that has ever lived, who as a sire stands alone as a class by himself. There is no other horse in the world that has produced so many champions, and who have been bred in the last generation. There is no other horse in the world that has produced so many champions, and who have been bred in the last generation. There is no other horse in the world that has produced so many champions, and who have been bred in the last generation.

The first sire in his family was the last breeding, son of R. A. Cunningham (the founder of the family), and was for a number of years the best horse in the world's champion record. "I Would Not Have Catarrh for a Million Dollars," Says Mrs. Carter—Pe-ru-na her Safeguard.

MRS. LESLIE CARTER, THE GREAT ACTRESS, OF NEW YORK CITY.

Mrs. Leslie Carter, probably the most prominent actress in America, says the following of Pe-ru-na:

"Pe-ru-na is sure to prevent a cold. It will stop a cough before it becomes settled. It cures all catarrhal affections like magic. No money could tempt me to be without this remedy for even a day. It is just the remedy that all women need, especially such women that are exposed to the vicissitudes of climate as I am."

"I never neglect an opportunity to recommend this remedy to my friends. It is America's greatest remedy for America's greatest enemy, catarrh and catarrhal affections. I would not have catarrh for a million dollars, and so long as I have Pe-ru-na at hand to promptly check the slightest symptoms of its approach, I feel perfectly safe from this disease."

N. Leslie Carter.

Mrs. M. Dooley, Mount Airy, Habersham county, Ga., in a recent letter says: "I suffered five years more or less with catarrh of the stomach and pelvic organs. I tried a good many remedies of my own, and bought medicine from a doctor that was highly recommended, although the medicine did me no good whatever. Finally, I consulted a specialist my case. Dr. Hartman, I read him, and he readily advised me. I bought some Pe-ru-na, and a few days after was taken with its gripe. I took Pe-ru-na and Man-a-lin and I can say without a doubt that it has entirely relieved me of all my ailments. I feel better and stronger than I have in many years. My appetite is all right, I have no symptoms of my former troubles remaining. I am able to do my usual work without fatigue, and have every reason to believe that my health is the direct result of the use of Pe-ru-na and Man-a-lin, without which I should have been dead by this time. There is no medicine that can equal Pe-ru-na and Man-a-lin. I find it a sure cure for all catarrhal affections; as for its gripe there is no other remedy that can compare with it. I can scarcely find words to express my gratitude for Dr. Hartman's good advice and kindness to me."

The peculiar ills to which women are subject are often very dangerous. It frequently happens that the victim lives far from competent medical assistance. What shall she do? She is not wealthy enough to go to some distant city for treatment, and cannot procure skillful assistance at home. This is what she should do: write Dr. Hartman, Columbus, O., tell him the whole story and he will do the rest. Mrs. Margaret Fietz, Wilcox, O. T., writes: "I extend my sincere thanks for the good advice you have given me. I do not believe I would be living now if it were not for you. I had suffered with hemorrhages for four months and the doctors could help me but little. They operated on me three times. It was very painful, and I only obtained a little relief. As long as they worked at me, the hemorrhage stopped; but just as soon as they closed the door it would commence to flow again. I was so weak I could not turn in bed. At last my neighbors began to speak of patent medicines. Then I applied to Dr. Hartman. I did not know whether he could help me or not; but I followed his advice and only used three bottles of Pe-ru-na. Now I am well and as strong as ever was."

Every woman should have Dr. Hartman's free book to women. Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.

Judge James H. Denton was nominated by the President on Thursday for Collector of the Eighth district. It is expected that the nomination will be promptly confirmed and that he will be in office by the 15th.

J. A. Lambert, of Rachel, N. C., writes: "I heartily endorse Foley's Kidney Cure. It does what you claim it will do, and there is nothing equal to it, and I thank you for the good it has done me." Accord no substitute. F. C. Emerson.

The House Committee on Insular Affairs has decided to postpone consideration of proposed legislation in regard to the new American possessions until the Supreme Court has passed on the insular cases now before that tribunal.

NOW HE MADE HIS CAKE.

The Man Who Ventured to Give His Wife a Lesson in Cooking.

"Madam, you don't know how to make cake!" exclaimed Mr. Smith, throwing a lump of half-cooked dough across the room at the cat. "You never knew how to cook cake. I'd rather eat wet sawdust. You ought to have seen the cake my mother made—that was cake!"

"Your mother again—always your mother!" retorted Mrs. Smith. "Pity she didn't teach you something!"

"What do you mean, madam? I'll warrant I'll make better cake myself than you any day."

"Why don't you try? You'll find everything in the kitchen."

"Well, I can."

"Well, why don't you? You are all talk!"

Smith took off his coat, his collar and necktie, rolled up his shirt-sleeves. They walked to the kitchen together, and Smith said:

"What shall I mix in it?"

"Oh, you're doing it!" Mrs. Smith replied.

"Ah, this will do," he said, taking up a bowl. "Now bring me some water; now some raisins and currants, sugar and ginger and allspice. There, that will do!" He put them into a bowl and mixed them with a spoon.

"They don't seem to stick together," he said. "Looks more like a thick soup than anything else. Fancy I've got too much water."

Smith drained off some of the water and was about to put the cake into a pan when his wife said:

"Didn't your mother use flour?"

"Oh, yes—yes—ah, yes—flour, of course!"

Then he mixed in flour until it was so stiff that he could hardly knead it.

"Now," said he, "I'll take this round to the baker's and have it baked properly."

He started off, and when he reached the baker's he said:

"Will you just throw this stuff away and put in its place one of your best raisin cakes?"

That night at supper Mrs. Smith had her mother and sister with her. She had told them of the cake, and they were expecting great fun at Smith's expense. The cake did not come until supper time—Smith took it from the boy, and said:

"This is my cake—something like a cake!"

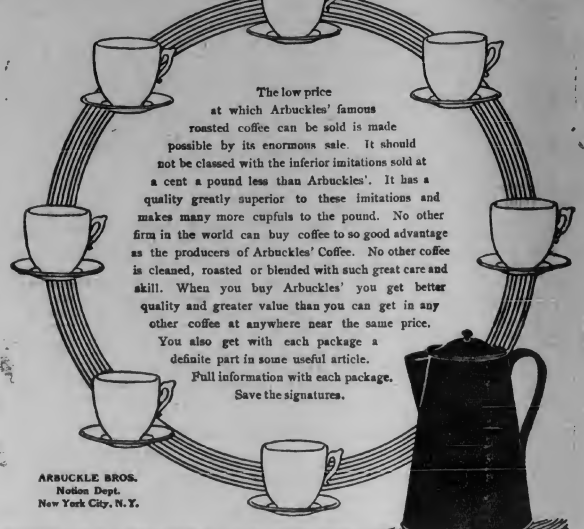

He carried in the cake and placed it on the table.

"Here's a note in the paper," said Mrs. Smith; "I'll read it."

Arbuckles' famous Roasted Coffee

The low price at which Arbuckles' famous roasted coffee can be sold is made possible by its enormous sale. It should not be classed with the inferior imitations sold at a cent a pound less than Arbuckles'. It has a quality greatly superior to these imitations and makes many more cupsful to the pound. No other firm in the world can buy coffee to so good advantage as the producers of Arbuckles' Coffee. No other coffee is cleaned, roasted or blended with such great care and skill. When you buy Arbuckles' you get better quality and greater value than you can get in any other coffee at anywhere near the same price.

You also get with each package a definite part in some useful article.

Full information with each package. Save the signatures.

Sold Her Beautiful Hair.

A beautiful plait of golden hair, measuring two meters and 50 centimeters, has been very much admired at the Paris exhibition. This wonderful hair belonged to a young Normandy girl, who, to pay a family debt and save her father's good name, sold it to a Parisian coiffeur for 1,600 francs, and now it is the property of a lady who desires the strictest incognito to be kept, and who paid 3,000 francs for it.

BLOOD POISON.

In some cases the external signs of Contagious Blood Poison are so slight that the victim is firmly within the grasp of the monster before the true nature of the disease is known. In other cases the blood is quickly filled with this poisonous virus and the swollen glands, mucus patches in the mouth, sores on scalp, ulcers on tongue, eruptions on skin, copper colored spots, and falling hair and eyebrows. Doctors still prescribe mercury and potassium iodide for this disease. These poisons never make a complete and permanent cure of Contagious Blood Poison. They drive the blood back into the system, cover it up for a while, but it breaks out again in worse form. These powerful minerals produce mercurial rheumatism and the most offensive sores and ulcers, causing the joints to stiffen and finger nails to drop off. Mercury and potassium make wrocks, not cures, and those who have been dosed with these drugs are never after free from aches and pains. S. S. S. acts in an entirely different manner, being a purely vegetable remedy. It forces the poison out of the system, and instead of treating down, builds up and invigorates the general health. S. S. S. is the only antidote for this specific virus, and therefore the only cure for Contagious Blood Poison. No matter in what stage or how hopeless the case may appear, even though pronounced incurable by the doctors, S. S. S. can be relied upon to make a rapid, permanent cure. S. S. S. is not a new medical remedy; an experience of nearly fifty years has proven it a sure and infallible cure for this disease. It is the only purely vegetable blood medicine known.

Dr. R. L. Meyer, via Montgomery St., N. Y. City, says: "I was afflicted with a terrible blood disease, which was in spots and blot, but afterwards spread all over my body. These soon broke out in sores, and it is easy to imagine the suffering I endured. But I became convinced that the doctors were not in good luck and I decided to try S. S. S. I tried various patent medicines, but they did not reach the disease. When I had finished my first bottle of S. S. S. I was greatly improved, and was enabled to get on my feet. The red spots on my chest began to grow paler and smaller, and before long disappeared entirely. I replaced my lost weight, became stronger, and my appetite improved. I was soon entirely well, and my skin as clear as a piece of glass."

Send for our Home Treatment Book, which contains valuable information about this disease, with complete directions for self treatment. Our medical department is in charge of physicians who have made a lifetime study of blood diseases. Don't hesitate to write for any information or advice wanted. We make no charge whatever for the most successful medicine. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC COMPANY, ATLANTA, GA.

The suggestion of the President that the Chinese negotiations be conducted in Washington instead of by the Ministers in Peking has been opposed by the other Powers and has been withdrawn. It is estimated that most of the opposition came from Germany. The Chinese plenipotentiaries are reported to have signed the joint note, thus concluding the preliminary stage of the negotiations.

When threatened by pneumonia or any other lung trouble, prompt relief is necessary, as it is dangerous to delay. We would suggest that One Minute Cough Cure be taken as soon as indications of having taken cold are noticed. It cures quickly and its early use prevents consumption. F. C. Duerson.

To Cure a Cough
Stop coughing, as it irritates the lungs, and gives them no chance to heal. Foley's Honey and Tar cures without causing a strain in throwing the phlegm like common cough expectorants. F. C. Duerson.

The impression at Washington is that the Supreme Court, in the Constitution and Flag cases, will sustain the government by a vote of 7 to 2 or 6 to 3. In connection with the cases the appointment of the sons of Justice Harlan and McKenna to fat jobs is causing talk.

Save doctors' bills by giving Foley's Honey and Tar to infants and children in time to prevent pneumonia or croup, which are fatal to so many thousands of babies. F. C. Duerson.

Judge O'Rear handed down his first decision in the Court of Appeals, reversing a damage suit case from Johnson county.

The Thrice-A-Week World's diligence as a publisher of the first news has given it circulation wherever the English language is spoken—and you want it.

The Thrice-A-Week World's regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year. We offer this unequalled newspaper and The MT. STERLING ADVOCATE together one year for $1.70.

The regular subscription price of the two papers is $2.00.

Getting Thin

is all right, if you are too fat; and all wrong, if too thin already. Fat, enough for your habit, is healthy; a little more, or less, is no great harm. Too fat, consult a doctor; too thin, persistently thin, no matter what cause, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil.

There are many causes of getting too thin; they all come under these two heads: over-work and under-digestion.

Stop over-work, if you can; but, whether you can or not, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, to balance yourself with your work. You can't live on it—true—but, by it, you can. There's a limit, however; it'll pay for it.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the readiest cure for "can't eat," unless it comes of your doing no work—you can't long be well and strong, without some sort of activity.

The genuine has this picture on its label. You have not tried it, send for free sample, its a-gainable taste will surprise you. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 409 Pearl Street, New York.

Important Rules For All People.

"The longer I live," said Chas. Simson, preacher and founder of the Church Missionary Society, "the more I feel the importance of these rules."

"1. To learn as little as possible what is to the prejudice of others."

"2. To believe nothing of the kind until I am absolutely obliged to."

"3. Never to drink in the spirit of evil reports."

"4. Always to moderate, so far as I can, the unkindness which is expressed towards others."

"5. Always to believe that, if the other side were heard, a very different account would be given of the matter."

The long-pending litigation between the minority and majority stockholders in the J. G. Mattingly company distillery has been settled by the Kentucky Distillers and Warehouse Company purchasing all interests according to a settlement proposed by three liquidators.

In his message to the Legislature, Gov. Mount, of Indiana, recommends the enactment of stringent laws for the suppression of lynchings.

College Literary Production.

On our desk is a copy of Volume I, No. 1, of the B-nobel Record, a production of the students of Bowdoin College, Nashville, Tenn., of which Miss Mary E. Denton, of this city, is one of the editors from the Athenaeum Society. In style, stock and typographical art it is a beauty, while its subjects are at once an attraction to the thoughtful, and the articles are themselves in both language and thought, worthy of the professional writers of the day. We don't know when it has ever been our good fortune to peruse with delight such high standard of college literature, and we are the more delighted that our Mission can take to herself an equal share with others of the editorial staff. The front piece is an inset on which appears a half tone likeness of the editors, among whom is Miss Denton.

New Firm.

Jas. Freeman and Richard Wilson, live business men, have bought out the coal interests of Ratliff Bros., Queen and Locust streets, have full possession and are on the market for business. They have a good supply of coal. Will handle feed. Terms, cash on small profit as possible.

In the Circuit Court at Frankfort the case of ex-Gov. W. S. Taylor, ex-Secretary of State Charles Berry, Harry Howard and John L. Powers, charged with being accessories before the fact to the murder of William Goodell, were called and continued until the spring term, none of the accused being in custody.

The Figures Three and Nine.

Religious superstition asserts itself in Chinese architecture, and the universal sacredness of the numerals three and nine is shown in the arrangement of temple doors. There is a triple gateway to each of the halls of the imperial palace, and the same order prevails at the Ming tombs, and the sacred person of the emperor, who was in his Peking home, could only be approached, even by the highest officials, after three times three prostrations. The temple of heaven has a triple roof, a triple marble staircase and all its mystic symbolism points either to three or its multiples.

THE AUTOMOBILE.

There Was One in Operation Before the Civil War.

"There is a general impression, I believe," said a middle-aged business man of this city, "that the automobile is a recent invention, and that the first machines ever put into practical service date back only a few years. That is a mistake. As far back as 1860, and maybe for a year or two before, an automobile was to be seen frequently on the pike between Washington and Harper's Ferry. I often had business taking me on horseback between these points at that period, and I will never forget my amazement the first time I saw the machine. It was built on the general model of a heavy drag, and the steam engine that supplied the power was located in the front part, with a driver's seat in the rear. The machinery was enclosed in a sheet iron case, and was controlled by three or four levers, which protruded through slots in the top. I soon saw that an acquaintance with the inventor, who was an elderly gentleman named Snodgrass, and found him a most interesting character. He had been a captain of engineers in the Austrian army, but retired on a small fortune and came to America to live. The construction of the automobile had been a matter of diversion with him, and he told me he had been studying the problem for ten or twelve years. When we became better acquainted he showed me the working parts, and, while I am no mechanic, I remember that the apparatus impressed me as being remarkably simple. I am not certain what he used for fuel, but to the best of my recollection it was petroleum. The engine was connected with the rear wheels by a system of gears, and on one occasion it sprang a leak when the captain was taking me out for a ride, and we came to a sudden standstill in a lonely countryside, miles from the nearest settlement. After waiting several hours a farmer came along with an ox team, and we got him to tow us home. Snodgrass was greatly chagrined by the mishap, and I got no more invitations to join him. I think, however, that the machine was, on the whole, successful. The war came on shortly afterward, and I lost sight of the old craftsman, never to see him again. I heard, at the conclusion of peace, that he had entered the union service in some clerical capacity and died at Washington. What became of his queer automobile I don't know."—N. O. Times-Democrat.

NOT WHAT SHE MEANT.

Good Example of What One Would Rather Not Have Said.

"People are queer," remarked the woman opposite. "You know that black hat I bought to wear to Cousin Jim's funeral? I didn't go into regular mourning for him, you'll remember, but being a relative I simply had to wear all black at the funeral. So I ripped the gold braid off my black velvet, ordered a small black turban and a crepe edged veil and looked as respectable as the rest of the family. The other day the woman who lives next door had a telegram that some body or other had the influenza, and that she must come on at once. That was about dinner time, and her train left at midnight. She couldn't get into any store at that time of night, and she knew that there would be nothing to be had in the little place to which she was going, so she came over to see if I could help her out. I brought out my mourning outfit, and she went off as delighted as one could be with such a lugubrious loan. She came back a day or two ago, and yesterday she brought the turban and veil over."

"I'm ever so much obliged," she said, "and I do hope that some time I'll be able to return your kindness."

"Now did you ever hear of a better example of the things one would rather not have said?"—Milwaukee Sentinel.
